Animals have their special ways to deal with hard times in nature. The superb fairy-wren, one kind of bright-blue bird from Australia, is one example. This year, a ten-year study showed that this small bird has eggs of different sizes in different kinds of weather. When the weather is hot and dry, there is less food for young superb fairy-wrens, so they die easily. The mother bird will make larger eggs to help her babies grow stronger inside before they break out of the eggs into the "hungry" world.

However, not all mother birds are able to do this trick. Only those with at least one male child can. When the weather is "good," the mother will make smaller eggs, and her sons will bring food back for their baby brothers and sisters from the eggs. With her sons' help, the mother can save more energy for making larger eggs when the weather is bad. Isn't this amazing?

(用英文填答)

Weather in Australia	Bad	Good
Size of eggs	large
Did mother birds need a male child bird's help?		Yes, they did.

I had a(an) _____ 1 _____ experience last Sunday.

That day, my family went camping near a big lake. While my parents were preparing dinner, my sister and I were playing by the lake. A dirty man appeared from somewhere, and his face was half covered by his hair. He was tall and strong. He walked to us and asked for some water.

When I gave him water, the bag he carried dropped, and things inside fell out on the grass. I saw a rope, a knife, and a baseball bat. The strangest thing was that there were also a child's shoe and a toy, and I'm sure they were not his. The man quickly put all his things back in the bag and looked at us angrily. At that moment, the picture of a man the police was looking for came to my mind. He was the crazy killer! I was so afraid that I could not move at all.

Luckily, before he could get any closer, my dad shouted from far away, and the man hurried off into the dark.
